Conference call for questions about A Healthy Way to Be Sick

Every week I will do Conference calls to answer questions about "A Healthy Way to Be Sick." The number of calls per week and their length will depend on the amount of questions asked. To ask questions, click on this link.

I will post the time and phone # of the next conference call to those who will be invited.

- I will allow 3-5 minutes per answer.
- People will be contacted by e-mail for the call in which their question will be answered. If I don't get to answer your question, you will be the first question answered on the next call and you will be informed by e-mail.
- If you want to be an observer send me an e-mail with observer in the subject line.
